Library Board selects DNR lakeside property for site of new library

By Rosemary K. Otzman
Independent Editor

If tri-community taxpayers vote for funding next year, a new, two-story district library complex will be built on the DNR property on the lake, just north of the Belleville Bridge in Van Buren Township.

And, fishermen on the lake will be an important part of the complex.

On Tuesday, after two hours of discussion, the Belleville Area District Library Board voted 6-1 to choose the Department of Natural Resources lakeside site as the place it wants to build a new library.

There were 26 people in the audience.

Treasurer Elaine Gutierrez cast the only no vote. She said as a real estate broker, she has her doubts because there are so many players: the DNR, the Spencers (who own the home next door that also will be purchased), the Wayne County Road Commission, and VBT.

She said if any one of these doesn't follow through, it's over. Gutierrez said she thinks the board needs a second plan. She also hates to leave the city. For example, the Harvest Fest would be up because "we're not walking over the bridge for that."

The Harvest Fest, set for this weekend in Belleville, is a cooperative effort between the museum and the library.

Gutierrez said she wants to see a new library within this decade and the board has been working on a site for three years and it needs to pass a bond issue, which will then take a year or two to get started.

"It's going to take a long time," she said, noting the architectural costs for the main library and the satellite library in Sumpter will be "another excessive cost."

She said she would like a backup plan in case this goes to pot.

After her vote against the DNR site, she said her vote was for everyone who wants to stay in town.

Library Board Secretary Joy Cichewicz, chairman of the Building Committee, said she doesn't know any library in the state that will be on such a spectacular site.

After her vote for the DNR site, Cichewicz said she's happy the board made the decision.

One of the reasons for the decision, she said, was that the board has not been given one single action from the city that said they wanted the library to stay, until they sent over the appraisal for the library property and the city parking lot.

"We're elected to make the decisions," said Board Member Michael Boelter. "You don't have to cross the Mackinac Bridge to get there," he said of the DNR site.

The board also voted unanimously to put the satellite library site in the Sumpter Community Center in the 2,000 square feet of area recently vacated by Head Start.

Also, the board voted to notify all the people with whom they had property options that they are not going to accept the options, so they can sell to others.

"We've really just arrived at the beginning," said architect Dan Whisler at the end of Tuesday's meeting. "Now we've got a lot of work to do."

Whisler has to come up with more complete plans for the building and give a figure for construction based on the site. Then, the size of the bond issue and the millage needed to support it will be decided and a campaign started to persuade voters to pay for it.

He said if they hit an insurmountable roadblock, the board will step back and decide what it wants to do.

Whisler said four or five months down the road if they have to find another site, the easiest one to go back and revisit is the second-favorite Grace Baptist Church site in the city, also on Belleville Lake.

That site has been for sale for 13 years, he noted, adding it would be easier than going back to the multiple other options in the

The Van Buren Township Fire Department visited the Early Childhood Development Center at Haggerty School on Monday for a safety lesson. Here, Lt. Ryan McCormick shares safety tips with the students. The children especially enjoyed seeing teacher Holly Ulrich dressed in fire gear. Sitting in the truck, touching the helmet and seeing the gear up close topped the children's list of favorite moments. "It is important for preschoolers to become familiar with fire gear and equipment," said Building Coordinator Becky Ross. "In the event of an emergency, children need to know that the fire fighters are there to help."

Independent wins two awards in statewide newspaper contest

The Michigan Press Association announced, in time for this week's celebration of National Newspaper Week, that the Belleville-Area Independent has earned two awards among all entrants in its category statewide.

The Independent won third place in News Enterprise Reporting for the "Court Watching" series written by Diane Madigan and Rosemary K. Otzman.

Otzman also won an honorable mention for her "Extra Things I Know" column in the Local Columnist category.

Three examples of the "Court Watching" series were entered in the contest by the Independent with this explanation:

"We've had a lot of police stories where people were arrested, but then it was impossible to get the ends of those stories. Some were let free; some were sentenced to many years in prison.

"The local police didn't know the ends of the stories because the county prosecutor's office was too busy to let them know. Often, the court sessions went on and on until the case was finalized. We started following the cases at district court and then to circuit court in Detroit, which was a big project.

"We ultimately named our series 'Court Watching' and were able to get a local writer to help follow the cases. It's been a very popular series and police, especially, are very interested to know how their stories end."

The judge noted on the Extra Things I Know column: "I loved the snapshots of community events, people, and decisions. The writer is clearly tuned into her local community."

Members of the Nebraska Press Association reviewed 3,108 entries submitted by 114 Michigan newspapers when they judged the 2013 Michigan Press Association Better Newspaper Contest.

'Witch Fest' to bring 80 women dressed as witches to Egan's Pub

By Rosemary K. Otzman
Independent Editor

On Saturday, after Harvest Fest is over in downtown Belleville, 80 women dressed as witches will begin arriving for the second-annual "Witch Fest" that begins on the Fourth Street Square.

At Monday's meeting, the Belleville City Council approved a last-minute request by Egan's Pub to host the private event, as long as it gets the temporary special-use outside serving license it expects from the Michigan Liquor Control Commission.

The private event involves four women each inviting 20 other women, ending up with 80, to go on a private bus excursion of unknown destination.

Jennifer Winter of Egan's said last year the witches didn't even all get off the bus at 12 Oaks Mall before they created a sensation.

Egan's said they will put up a barricade of hay bales to block off the area from the general public, which will blend in with the Harvest Fest décor of the city. They will use temporary gating from the pub's entrance to the hay bales in the Fourth Street Square.

Egan's staff will be outside to make sure all alcohol and food stay inside the designated area.

All the witches will be of legal drinking age and there will be no minors present. The event starts at 5:30 p.m., when alcohol and food will be served, and ends as 6:30 p.m., when the witches board their private bus to start their excursion.

The area will then be dismantled and returned to its original state.

Councilwoman Kim Tindall said she wanted to talk to them after the meeting to find out how she could get invited.

In other business at Monday's meeting, the council:

- Held the first reading of a zoning ordinance amendment that would add restaurants to the principal permitted uses in the B-1 district. City Manager Diane Kollmeyer said the planning commission held a public hearing on the change and recommended approval by the council;
- Approved fireworks for the Winter Fest on Dec. 7. At about 7 p.m., after the Winter Fest parade, Colonial Fireworks will shoot off from the Denton Road bridge 192 three-inch aerial display shells, 84 four-inch display shells, and six multiple shot, barrage-type items. Belleville and Van Buren Township fire fighters will stand by at the site;

- Approved the Jingle Bell Run for Winter Fest, this year benefitting the Van Buren Public Schools Education Foundation. The run will begin at 9:45 a.m., Dec. 7, at the Horizon Park Gazebo and proceed along High Street, north along Main Street, and onto Denton Road and then back;

- Deferred action on the Winter Fest Parade, "A Hawaiian Christmas," until Randy Brown from the Chamber of Commerce could fill out a formal request with details on street closing requests. The request is expected to be on the city council's Oct. 21 agenda;

- Approved free hayrides at The Lunch Box from 7:30 to 9:30 p.m. after trick or treating in downtown Belleville on Halloween, Oct. 31. The hayride will board at The Lunch Box and the tractor will pull the wagon down North Liberty Street to First Street and then back up Main Street to The Lunch Box. The council agreed to take parking off the side of Liberty Street opposite the lake to make way for the event. The wagon and driver are from the Wayne County Fairgrounds. Safety issues were discussed;

- Approved the second change order for Insituform Technologies USA for the Cured-in-Place Pipe Program that increases the total price by $4,018. Now at $158,718.80, the total price still is below the budgeted $175,000, said Keith Boc, DPW Director;

- Approved accounts payable of $335,127.63 and the following departmental purchases over $500: to Hennessey Engineers, $1,961 for site plan review, from Trust/Escrow, and $35,509 for the S-2 Grant Administration from the Water Dept. budget; to Hydrodesign, $5,405 for inspections, from the Water Dept.; and to Insituform, $18,699.32 for sewer lining, from the Water Dept.;

- Heard Councilman Tindall comment that she was glad to see the police reserves got paid -- in October for their Strawberry Fest work in June. Thirteen reserves were on the list with payments from $102 to $600 each. Tom Fielder, president of the Strawberry Festival, said the festival settled that up in July. City Manager Kollmeyer explained the delay was "due to a miscommunication between the police chief and myself"; and

- Heard Kollmeyer announce that 18 decorated scarecrows had been put up along Main Street earlier that day.

Bankruptcy Court Trustee hires CPA to track White's funds

By Rosemary K. Otzman
Independent Editor

On Oct. 4, Bankruptcy Court Judge Thomas J. Tucker signed an order approving the ex-parte request of Chapter 7 Trustee Wendy Turner Lewis to employ an accountant to help her process the filing by Thomas A. White.

White, of Belleville, filed Chapter 7 Bankruptcy on July 19, a few days after being disbarred as an attorney. He had served as an attorney in Belleville for 20 years at 35 Main Street, across from City Hall.

Lewis' attorney Tracy M. Clark from Steinberg Shapiro & Clark filed the application for the services of an accountant to, among other things, consult with the trustee and her counsel on financial matters, "analyze the Debtor's books and records, trace funds, value the Debtor's membership and interest in an LLC, and prepare tax returns."

Judge Tucker gave Lewis the approval to hire Chapski & Chapski, CPAs, LLP to serve as accountant for the trustee in this case. The hourly fees for Chapski & Chapski, of Canton, range between $50 to $150.

In his Declaration of Disinterestedness, Steven R. Chapski states, "I have been advised that the Debtor has numerous creditors and, accordingly, the firm may have rendered services or had business associations with such creditors or their counsel in the ordinary course of the firm's business, but none of these services have been in connection with, nor impact, this proceeding."

Assets recovered

Trustee Lewis filed a notice on Sept. 30 that assets have been recovered by the trustee and those wishing to file as claimants need to file by Dec. 26.

Besides bankruptcy proceedings, White faces five criminal charges for allegedly defrauding the late Leland Jordan and his wife Judith A. Jordan of Belleville. According to the Wayne County Prosecutor's Office, more criminal charges against White are coming.

White is scheduled for a 9 a.m. preliminary exam on Oct. 16 at 34th District Court on the five original charges, and maybe more.

New creditors added

On Tuesday, Oct. 10, White's bankruptcy attorney added seven new creditors to his list, now totaling 23. The total new claims add up to $360,750.

Additions were listed as "business debts": Alyssa Renier ($100,000), Karen Forester ($43,000), Dan Fischer ($35,000), Paypal ($3,750), Dwayne Branham ($19,000), Thomas Sienko ($100,000), and Judy Jordan ($60,000).

It's National Newspaper Week

This is National Newspaper Week and newspapers around the country are encouraged to remind readers of how important newspapers are.

This also is the week that the Michigan Press Association releases the winners in this year's annual Better Newspaper Contest.

The Nebraska Press Association judged Michigan's 3,108 entries from 114 newspapers and came up with the winners in the various circulation categories.

The Independent was fortunate enough to earn two more certificates to hang on our office walls, although we really are running out of space.

We had thought the Court Watching series was important for our readers and the judges agreed. We also know many people enjoy the Extra Things I Know column, because they tell us it's the first thing they read each week.

Those are our two winners this year.

We do wish to tell you that we take great pride in watching your governmental units for you when you can't make the meetings. It's important for you to know what the councils and boards are doing – especially when it will mean more money out of your pockets.

For example: The district library will be seeking a millage in August or November 2014 to build a new library. Also, Van Buren Township will be hitting a wall within a few years that may require additional taxes on the residents to pay off the Visteon bonds. We've all got to watch what's going on. We're happy to help.

EXTRA THINGS I KNOW

...By Rosemary K. Otzman

At 2:38 p.m. Tuesday, Oct. 1, a man from Monroe County hit a big, black light pole in front of Lonnie's car repair at Five Points.

Belleville Police Chief Gene Taylor said he and Cpl. Todd Schrecengost heard the report of a possible drunk driver coming north on Sumpter Road and stepped out of the police department to get into their cars just in time to see the blue Chevy Blazer at the light at Five Points.

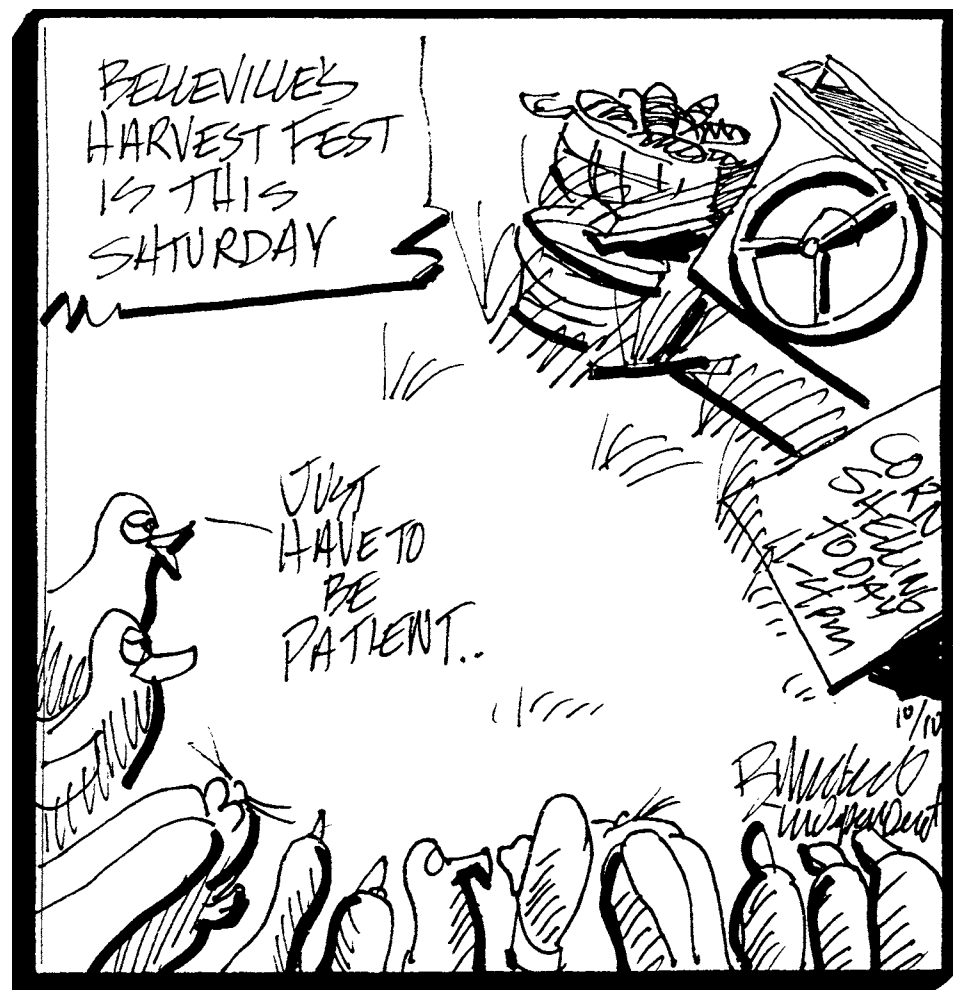

Chief Taylor said he believes the man saw the police across Five Points and wanted to avoid them. When the light changed, he suddenly turned left onto West Columbia Ave., making a left that was entirely too hard. It also was an illegal turn.

Chief Taylor said the man didn't seem injured but he was sent to the hospital for a blood draw, after police got a warrant. And, they wanted his well-being to be checked out, as well.

Chief Taylor said the foundation of the pole is cracked and whether that is from the collision or from age, he isn't sure. That pole supports two heavy traffic signals, which could be a problem.

The man who called in the possible drunk driving report to the police said he was northbound on Sumpter and the Blazer was behind him and it actually bumped into him. He said that scared him so he pulled over to get out of the way. Then he called police and followed the Blazer into town. He said he thought the man might be having a medical problem.

Jim Luke of Belleville has spent 68 years as an usher for the University of Michigan football games and has begun his 69th year. When his son tells him he should stop, Jim tells him he wants to do something with his time and this is fun.

Jim said people at the games comment at how good it is to see him there again this year. One man said he's been going to U of M games for 40 years and Jim was there when he began.

Jim is grandfather of Sumpter Township Police Captain Eric Luke.

I called VBT Supervisor Linda Combs because there have been a lot of rumors about Karin LaMothe, who resigned as Linda's executive assistant, saying she wasn't really resigned, but was staying.

Linda explained the situation. She said Karin did give her resignation to Linda with an Oct. 25 last day.

Linda said she whined a lot and asked Karin to consider staying until she found someone to take her place.

"I hate to lose her," Linda said, adding, "If I can talk her into staying, you bet I'd do that."

"She did take pity on me and say she'd stay until I found someone new," Linda said on Friday.

Linda said this appointment is not something you would post.

Of course. She needs someone who is knowledgeable and someone she can trust. She'll have to make her personal decision.

I suggested Linda may have to hone her whining skills and she agreed, saying she remembers asking a former township employee if she could take lessons from him.

I've been told that Holly Ulrich was settling down in her position as tuition preschool teacher at the Haggerty School building recently, when she pulled open a drawer in her desk.

It was an old teacher's desk and she found papers in the drawer with handwriting that she recognized at once. It was her dad's handwriting.

It turns out Holly was assigned a desk that her father, Jim Fitch, had used when he taught at Haggerty for 41 years. Jim retired in 2005.

Holly lives in Milan, but she feels a part of the family at Haggerty.

The Belleville DPW took down the beautiful hanging baskets from Main Street poles on Monday. Keith Boc, DPW Director, told me the flowers will be emptied from the flower pots along Main as soon as possible.

I know summer is over, but the flowers, which were watered every day all summer, were so beautiful!

VBT Board to discuss reopening Visteon's bankruptcy on Monday

By Diane Madigan
Independent Special Writer

At Tuesday's meeting of the Van Buren Township Local Development Finance Authority, a unanimous recommendation was made for the VBT Board to instruct legal counsel to file a petition to reopen the Visteon bankruptcy and initiate other legal action by Nov. 30. Supervisor Linda Combs said this item would be discussed at Monday's VBT work/study meeting.

Supervisor Combs also said that it's up to the township board to decide if this request fits with the township's strategy in negotiations with Visteon.

LDFA member Doug Peters said he believes "Time is of the essence". If the bankruptcy is opened soon, Visteon must include this in its annual report.

Combs said, "The best-case scenario is we would get Visteon to the table and they would agree to pay us a sum that we would be able to pay down the debt with. That, with the money coming in from the LDFA (approximately $504,000 for 2013) would be the best-case scenario. The worse-case would be we would need to get a millage. It may be an option but it's not something we're considering at the present time."

VBT's attorney at Clark Hill sent a letter to Visteon on Sept. 9 which included a report from the PFM Group on financial projections. The report indicated LDFA will likely run out of funds to make payments on Visteon bonds in 2018. The letter also asked Visteon to schedule a meeting with the township within the next 30 days. As of Oct. 8 there had been no response.

PFM is a financial management group that was hired by the LDFA in June 2012 for $2,573. At that time, PFM developed scenarios in dealing with refinancing the bonds in 2014 and dealing with a potential loss of personal property tax revenue.

Ruth Anna Pollard

RUTH ANNA POLLARD, SONG BIRD STILLED

(March 30, 1942 - September 27, 2013)

(December 14, 1930 - October 4, 2013)

Ruth Anna Pollard, age 82, passed away on Friday, October 4, 2013 at her home in Van Buren Township, Michigan. Ruth was born on December 14, 1930 in Evansville, Indiana to Robert and Beulah Jones Buttrum, the youngest of 14 children. She graduated from Mt. Vernon High School, then attended Lockyears Business School.

On September 26, 1953 she married James Pollard an Infantry Instructor at Camp Breckinridge, Kentucky. When the Korean war ended, she and husband Jim moved to Detroit for 2 years, then Mt. Clemens for 8 years; this was followed by 35 years in Belleville, MI. They moved to Norway, MI in 1992. Ruth and her husband James celebrated their 60th wedding anniversary on September 26, 2013. Music was Ruth's passion in life, Ruth had a very good and strong soprano voice that needed very little amplification. She was active in the music ministry of the Methodist church in each of the communities. Her love for music was further developed in Belleville with training by Mary Ellen Henkel of Ann Arbor. In Norway her talent was demonstrated as soloist, choir director and praise song leader at Grace United Methodist Church. The Pine Mountain Music Festival was a great source of pleasure; she sang in their annual opera chorus for 14 years, then became area director for 3 years. The Dickinson Community Chorus was also a part of her music contribution for 10 years. One of her favorite times was singing for the Liturgical Dance Group of the First United Methodist Church of Belleville for many years. Ruth sang Musical Therapy in many nursing homes for years. She served her community as the Director of Western Wayne County United Fund. She later enjoyed directing The Golden-K Chorus in the Iron Mountain, MI area.

Ruth is the last of her family of 14 children to pass away. She is preceded in death by her parents; a daughter, Collette in 1991; and leaves 3 sons, James E. Jr. (Dawn Elizabeth) Pollard of Belleville, MI, Howard (Dawn Lyn) Pollard of Dearborn, MI and Paul (Pam) Pollard of Belleville, MI, 8 grandchildren and 6 great-grandchildren. Also, many nieces and nephews, mostly in the Evansville, IN area.

Cremation rites will be accorded. A memorial service will be Saturday, October 12, 2013 starting at 9 A.M. with an 11:00 A.M. service at First United Methodist Church 417 Charles Street, Belleville, MI 48111. Arrangements by David C. Brown Funeral Home, 500 E. Huron River Drive, Belleville, MI. Donations may be made to Belleville First United Methodist Church and would be greatly appreciated by the family. Please sign her online guest book and share a memory for her family to cherish at www.davidcbrownfh.com.

VBT Household Hazardous Waste Collection set at EQ

By Arthur Mullen, Director
VBT Planning & Economic Development

Fall is the perfect time for cleaning up one's house, garage, workshop, medicine cabinet, or under the kitchen sink.

Van Buren Township is supporting residents by co-sponsoring its annual Household Hazardous Waste Collection Day from 9 a.m. to 2 p.m. on Saturday Oct. 19.

Household hazardous wastes are a serious concern. They can cause poisoning of small children and contaminating of resident's homes with spills. Incorrectly disposed of hazardous chemicals can lead to environmental contamination.

Residents should look in their kitchen and bathrooms, garages, workshops, garden sheds, and basements for any items they no longer use or have expired. Read the labels. Bring them in to the collection day to ensure their safe disposal.

How to identify a household hazardous waste? If the label states it is toxic, poisonous, ignitable, flammable, corrosive, or reactive (explosive if exposed to heat, flame, air, shock, or water), it requires special storage and disposal. Other terms to look for include: Warning, Caution, Danger, or Poison.

VBT is working in partnership with The Environmental Quality Co. to assist residents in safely disposing of their household hazardous wastes.

Residents are asked to bring the items in tightly sealed containers to prevent spillage while in transport. All containers brought to the collection site must be left there. No products in milk jugs will be accepted because containers puncture too easily.

Unacceptable items include: explosives and ammunition, industrial waste, tires, and asbestos.

This one day drop-off is free to Van Buren Township residents.

The drop-off site is located in the EQ East Parking Lot, 49350 N. I-94 Service Drive, between Beck and Rawsonville roads.

For more information about what items are acceptable, residents may contact VBT Community Services at (734) 699-8926 during township business hours – 7:30 a.m. to 4 p.m.

More Letters

Cobblestone Ridge needs help with hazards

To the Editor:

This is the letter I sent Sept. 9 to Van Buren Township DPW Director James Taylor and Department of Planning and Economic Director Arthur Mullen. Although I received an email on Sept. 10 saying Taylor would check on it and get back to me, I have heard nothing.

Mr. Taylor:

I am writing about a serious hazard in our development, Cobblestone Ridge Estates and the Manors of Cobblestone Ridge.

Dewatering sump

The first picture is one of several dewatering sumps that still stand open in our development. They are over 12" wide about 4 feet deep and have standing water in them. I have found birds and other creatures that have become trapped and die. I understand from your crew that were out this morning, Chuck and Mario, that this has been brought to the attention of the township numerous times without action.

The size of these openings are also a danger to small children who may wander from their parents and disappear with the potential of drowning. These sumps were constructed as a temporary solution to dewater while the adjacent manholes were constructed and were never intended to be permanent.

I have heard this may be the developer's responsibility. You may not know this but according to our bylaws the developers' rights have expired as of August 2011, although they still continue to build on this site. I would be happy to show you the documentation. I am requesting a walk through by the township to identify deficiencies and non-compliance with engineering specs as originally submitted and approved by the township and the developer to protect the current tax-paying homeowners.

As you can see we have other problems with the sanitary. As Chuck and Mario witnessed this morning, there is unmetered water running through the sanitary from a broken pipe in front of new construction at 14074 Red Oak. I have also included the last photo taken 11/08/2011 on Red Oak in front of 14103 Red Oak where the excavation contractor dewatered.

The other two pictures are photos that identify the standing water persistent in the vacant basements, Building 9 on Christina Lane in Cobblestone Ridge Manor. Last year I was informed by Wayne County, Trowbridge and Sheldon Acquisitions began construction on several homes without a soil erosion permit and was in violation as late as February 2012.

Our concern as a community continues to be a lack of quality in the development and enforcement of existing requirements as outlined in the original PDR. Please let me know if there are plans to cut and fill these sumps and eliminate the safety hazard in photo one that has persisted for so long. Julianne Chard, NCARB, LEED AP President, Cobblestone Ridge Homeowners Association

Federal grant of $12 million announced for Willow Run Airport

A $12 million federal grant to help renovate a runway at Willow Run Airport was announced September 19 by U.S. Sens. Carl Levin and Debbie Stabenow and Congressmen John Dingell and John Conyers of Michigan.

The U.S. Department of Transportation funding goes to the Wayne County Airport Authority, which runs the airport and Detroit Metropolitan Airport. It follows an award of $9 million from the department announced in July as part of an overall $27.3 million request.

The hope is that the renovated runway will help Willow Run's business and cargo services. Willow Run, partially in Van Buren Township, is part of the aerotropolis project that runs from Willow Run to Metro Airport.

Belleville Area Little League Election

There will be a General Election for the Belleville Area Little League (B.A.L.L.) on Sunday, October 13, 2013 at 3 p.m. The election is open to the public and will be held in the Van Buren Township gymnasium at 46425 Tyler Road, Van Buren Township.

Court WatchingHolmes sentenced to probation for assaults on police officer, friends

By Rosemary K. Otzman
Independent Editor

Christina Zanetta Holmes, 24, was sentenced to two years of probation on Sept. 18, after pleading guilty to assaulting friends at a party May 9, and also assaulting a Sumpter Township police officer.

Circuit Court Judge David A. Groner ruled Holmes had to pay total fees of $1,198 by Sept. 25, in addition to the $10 she paid in July.

Holmes failed to show up at 34th District Court on May 22 for a pre-trial exam on the three charges of assault in Sumpter Township.

One of the charges was for punching Police Sgt. Chris McGlynn in the face.

District Court Judge Brian Oakley issued a bench warrant for her arrest after she didn't appear as ordered. It was pointed out she also had a pending case in Washtenaw County.

Holmes had been charged with assaulting/resisting/obstructing a police officer plus two charges of assault/or assault and battery. When the warrants were issued May 10, she was also labeled an habitual offender.

Sumpter Det. John Toth said Holmes was picked up on that warrant and committed for mental evaluation. Then, she pled guilty to all three charges on June 26 before Judge Groner.

Det. Toth said at 12:49 a.m. on May 10 police were called to a social gathering in the 9000 block of Rawsonville Road when a female, later identified as Holmes, became unruly.

People at the party needed police help to have Holmes removed, Det. Toth said, noting a male subject was on top of her to restrain her when police arrived and he was ordered to let her go.

She was allowed up and Sgt. McGlynn and Officer Chaim Kozak approached her, Det. Toth said. She reportedly threatened to kill them and others and the officers blocked her path and tried to calm her.

Det. Toth said Holmes punched Sgt. McGlynn in the upper cheek and eye. She was arrested and taken to jail.

Det. Toth said alcohol was a factor in the incident and alcohol and drug testing is a part of her probation sentence.

Library Board

city that it had negotiated.

At Tuesday's meeting, Pastor Robert White stood to make a statement, noting he did not want to sound as a salesman. He is serious, he said.

He said the $2.5 million he asked for when the library sent him a letter is not what the property is worth. He said he was not asked what it was worth but what price the church wanted to move.

He said the church diligently sought three developers to get prices on a church half the size of what they now have, plus one less house than they have now, and $2.5 million is what they came up with.

"I did not appreciate hearing from a source that the library board laughed at our proposal," Pastor White said.

He said he talked to the library's attorney John Day over the years and they had considered various prices for the property. Then the option letter came and the church set a price.

Pastor White said if the property doesn't sell, the congregation will stay where it is.

He suggested the city close High Street and join the church property to Horizon Park for a library site on the lake. He said libraries have brought new businesses to several communities he named.

Near the meeting's end, Board Member Michael Boelter called Pastor White back into the meeting to apologize for any remarks over the past few months that hurt him or his church.

Pastor White accepted the apology. He said if he sold the library his property for $890,000, which was the assessed value, he couldn't go anywhere. He said he quoted what he had to have to move.

"I don't want to be laughed at. This is the lowest I can go," Pastor White said, adding he wants the city and the library to flourish.

Six days earlier, the library board held a public forum at Belleville High School before a packed crowd in the mini-auditorium. At that forum when he was asked how much it would cost to build a library, architect Whisler guessed "10 to 20 million dollars."

At that meeting on Oct. 2, Cichewicz, chairman of the building committee, gave an hour-long power-point presentation on the sites the board had studied. She offered extensive information on four possible places for the main library: three in downtown Belleville and the DNR site just over the bridge in VBT.

Then, the audience asked questions and got answers for another hour and a half, being shut down at 9:40 p.m. by Board Chairman Mary Jane Dawson who said their time was up in the building.

Although the four sites were announced verbally at the end of the board's Sept. 10 meeting, the documents concerning acquisition and development costs weren't made available to study until Sept. 27. That meant the public had just the three days the library was open to go to the library and review the newly set-out paperwork before the public forum.

Then, it was just six days for the information to be digested by the public, without time for any of the local weekly publications to report. And there was little time for the public to offer input to the board before board members voted on the site.

At the public forum and again at Tuesday's meeting, Belleville attorney Barbara Miller asked the board to put off the vote on the site selection for a month, to its November meeting, so the information could be disseminated and discussed by the public.

But the board said its architect said the decision needed to be made immediately.

Dawson said the information would be on the library's web site the next morning and the video recording of the meeting would be on township cable stations the next day. Videographer Sam Cumberland was asked to get his coverage edited and on cable as soon as possible, but as of Tuesday the recording was still in Cumberland's possession.

At the end of the forum, a four-color, three-page summary of the sites with maps and prices was distributed to those leaving the meeting.

On Thursday, Miller put written notes on the summary and copied them off to distribute them to the public in a personal effort to inform the public of the important Tuesday meeting.

In her Oct. 2 presentation, Cichewicz said if the library was put on the DNR property over the bridge, it would be "just 3/10 of a mile from Belleville, a seven-minute walk or a 35-second drive."

The costs distributed on Oct. 2 were too low by $104,500 for the DNR site, boosting the total cost to $2,347,260. Library attorney John Day said the DNR asked for the actual price it originally paid for the property, which he found out earlier that day was $395,000, plus a 10% transaction fee.

The information on the library website was updated with the new figures.

The four sites discussed Oct. 2 were:

- Site A: Charles Street, including the library, the city parking lot, the accounting office at 360 Charles, Main Street Computers (the old post office), and Robert Hampton's home at the corner of Charles and Third. Captain Nemo's was to be a part of this site, but the owner does not wish to sell it.

Acquisition: $1,446,250

Development: $1,236,689

Total: $2,682,939

- Site B: Main Street, including the library, city parking lot, historic Dr. Robb buildings holding Keith Bruder's office, Dr. Boelter's dental office, and Ibrahim Jawad's buildings at 397 Main that now house the cleaners and hydroponics businesses.

Acquisition: $1,423,000

Development: $774,147

Total: $2,197,147

- Site C: Baptist Church, including the library and city parking lot. The church and all its properties there have been priced at $2.5 million, so the church has enough to buy property to build a new building and move. It is on the lake, across High Street from Horizon Park.

Acquisition: $3,000,000

Development: $781,211

Total: $3,781,211

- Site D: The vacant DNR property and the house next door and 1.86 acres at 11933 Belleville Road, owned by Jerry Lee and Charlotte Spencer, which would be leveled.

Acquisition: $1,029,500

Development: $1,317,760 *

Total: $2,347,260

*The library board said it believes $235,000 of fishing access may be all or partially provided for with grant funding. The DNR gave the library a list of possible grants, but some of the grants are for Saginaw and other areas.

In a letter from the DNR on Sept. 9, it was announced the land exchange review committee has approved the request for state-owned land located in VBT and Wayne County, with the following conditions:

1. Library will develop fishing access and associated trail improvements as part of the overall improvement;

2. Library will maintain fishing access improvements in concert with the library facilities;

3. The fishing access must result in one third of the water frontage being "fishable" by the general public;

4. DNR will assist with plans, plan review, and approval;

5. Library encouraged to seek grants from a long list presented;

6. Library gives easement to the DNR covering the shoreline fishing.

Ask Angela
By Angela Nettro

I am here to answer questions pertaining to buying or selling real estate. Send your questions to "Ask Angela", c/o Belleville-Area Independent, 152 Main Street, Suite 9, Belleville 48111 or send me an email at nettroandco@comcast.net. I'll answer questions in this column.

Question from Irene in Romulus: I recently made an offer on a home. Upon writing the offer my agent briefly mentioned that I would be doing a Split Title Closing. I don't know what that means and he did not explain it. Could you please explain what Split Title Closing means and if it is a benefit to me?

Answer: Irene, the term Split Title means that two different title insurance companies will provide a title policy for your purchase. One title company will insure just the seller (Owner's Policy side) and another title company will insure the buyer's side (Mortgage Policy).

The use of two title companies is not necessary and usually complicates and confuses the process of providing closing paperwork more efficiently. In recent years, most larger real estate firms (some franchises) and lenders (Quicken Loans) are partners or associated directly with a title company they exclusively use.

Thus, if the real estate sale is two separate real estate offices, the buyer's real estate company or lender requests their affiliated title company to provide the title insurance.

For many years, real estate sales were handled by one title company insuring both the Seller/Owner Policy and the Buyer/Mortgage Policy. Having a split title closing does not offer you any additional benefits, but does involve splitting the closing documents, having two title sides to close docs and two closers responsible for either recording and/or disbursing, and parties to the transaction not always receiving a complete closing package.

Most often a one title company closing for buyer and seller is less complicated and if issues arise after closing there will be only one title company to contact to resolve the problems.

Correction: Not Lance

Lance Braziel was quoted in a story published on page three of the Oct. 3 Independent talking about an easement on the proposed Tucker Insurance property. However, he reports he was not the person who said what we said he said. The person who made the comment said his name and we had trouble understanding it. We thought it was Braziel. It wasn't. We regret the misquote and apologize.

Harvest Fest Parade kicks off at 11 a.m. on Sat.

The Harvest Fest Parade kicks off at 11 a.m. on Saturday and runs from Belleville High School to Five Points and up Main Street to the festival.

The parade is sponsored by the Belleville Central Business Community and will honor the 100th anniversaries of the Boy and Girl Scout organizations.

The Harvest Fest is on Fourth Street, that is closed on Saturday between Main and Charles streets – the area between the museum and the library.

At the library will be the petting farm and pony rides, Indian corn jewelry, soap carving and leaf rubbing, corn husk dolls, butter churning, leaf dipping and ink stamping.

At the museum, folks will learn rug beating, corn shelling, have a scavenger hunt, do laundry with a scrub board, make folded paper crafts, and take part in a Nickel Dig (between 2 and 3 p.m.). The museum also has the Scouting exhibit that has been in place all summer.

Joyous Noise will provide traditional music at the library and the museum, sponsored by the Belleville Downtown Development Authority.

There will be booths with food, baked items, caramel apples and other treats, along with sidewalk chalk drawing with Bob Mytych. The bake sale put on by the First United Methodist church will benefit the Community Food Closet.

Meanwhile, over at St. Anthony's Catholic Church, the Boy Scouts from Troop 793 will earn money for their activities with a pancake breakfast from 8 to 10 a.m. and a spaghetti dinner from 5 to 8 p.m.

Also, the Scarecrows will be in place on Main Street, the entries in a contest sponsored by the city's Parks and Recreation commission.

Drive 4 UR School

While all this is going on, the staff of Atchinson Ford will be at the back part of the Belleville High School parking lot from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. to offer free test drives, with each drive earning a $20 donation to BHS from Ford Motor Co.

The project will earn up to $6,000 for the school. Atchinson Ford's goal is 300 drivers.

Two dogs kill six goats; woman ordered to pay restitution, move dogs

By Rosemary K. Otzman

Independent Editor

Shelby Statham, 21, of the 22000 block of Sherwood Road in Sumpter Township, plead guilty Sept. 10 in 34th District Court to one count of harboring a vicious animal and paid $2,568 in restitution after her two dogs killed six goats owned by her neighbor.

Sumpter Police Detective John Toth said the dogs attacked the goats June 10 and July 28.

The owners of the goats were able to track the dogs back to where they came from the second time and found the dogs bloody from the attack. Statham wasn't home.

Det. Toth said the two dogs are a pit bull mix and a red bone hound dog mix. Some of the six goats killed were babies, Toth said.

In trying to fix the situation, a decision was made by police to seize the dogs, Toth said. Police got a search warrant and took the animals on July 31. The animals were in possession of Sumpter Police from then until the court date. Statham also had to pay $900 worth of Sumpter impound fees.

As part of the plea deal, Statham also was ordered to move the dogs to another location, Toth said.

Originally Statham was charged with two counts of unlicensed dogs, two counts of dogs at large, and two counts of harbouring vicious animals.

Toth said the six goats killed belonged to the neighbor's grandchildren and were worth up to $600 apiece.

Belle Harbor sub. homeowners vote to approve new fence

By Diane Madigan
Independent Special Writer

Nineteen homeowners from about 80 homes in Belle Harbor Subdivision met Oct. 3 to discuss a project that would replace an old fence along their subdivision and then voted 15-4 to support the new fence.

The fence project is being done by the Van Buren Township Downtown Development Authority and DDA Executive Director Susan Ireland and DDA Vice Chairman Craig Atchinson attended the meeting to answer questions.

Karen Mida, a 25-year resident of Belle Harbor and the only current homeowners' association officer, had called the meeting to elect officers, collect association dues, and to ask the residents to decide whether or not to go along with the DDA plans to replace the existing cyclone fence on the east side of Belleville Road between Sunrise and Harmony Lane.

Ireland, who has been working with the residents, township engineers, township planning consultants and Wayne County for over a year, gave a history of the fence and the DDA's efforts thus far.

After several complaints from members of the community about the blighted condition of the fence, Ireland approached the DDA board, where it was decided to research actions needed to replace the fence.

Some long-time residents insisted the fence, which still had barbed wire on the tops of some stretches, was installed by Henry Ford when he owned that property.

Ireland said a land survey was done along the cyclone fence that revealed in some places the fence is two inches from the Wayne County right-of-way and in other places the fence is four feet into the right-of-way. She said most of the greenery is poison ivy.

Wayne County decided the DDA would be allowed to remove the fence and replace it in the same exact location. Ireland said she sent letters to the 11 residents whose properties abut the fence and heard back from two. One resident wanted the fence replaced and one did not.

Another resident had concerns about her privacy fence that abuts the chain-link fence.

"I will not touch the privacy fence that is on your property line," Ireland promised.

Mida said there's no issue because the cyclone fence is not on private property but on county property.

Ireland added, "Theoretically, if the county wanted to, they could come and rip the fence out.

"If everybody really doesn't want to have it done, I'll take my fence fund and start on another project. I put in a lot of man hours and twisted a lot of arms at the county," Ireland said.

Ireland said this is a $150,000 project and answered residents' questions as to where the funding was coming from.

She said the DDA would be responsible for maintenance and repair, as they currently are doing with the street lights. The DDA will also continue to mow along Belleville Road, trim along the bottom of the fence, and deal with any graffiti.

Ireland circulated a sample of the fence and described the completed replacement fence as being six feet tall and running 1,100 feet.

Comments from Belle Harbor residents included: it will look like a gated community and it will look like a fort with a fence. Some residents said they appreciate the trees along the fence because they shadow the street lights.

Ireland said the only trees that are going to be removed are the ones growing in the fence. The trees that are planted along Belleville Road will stay.

Ireland described the location of the DDA district, how the district is funded, and the many projects it has completed and currently is working on.

"I do not live on that side of the sub," one resident said. "I do not have to look at it from the back of my home. I personally think it's a very good idea. I personally think it enhances Belle Harbor Sub. Since we are the first subdivision into downtown, it does Belleville proud when our sub looks very nice from the street. I don't have to look at it but I am grateful that you all are offering it to us."

Barbara Miller asked if there is an option to just fix that part of the fence that is "bent and unsightly."

Kimberly Kennedy, whose property abuts the fence, said she's never seen where the main entrance to a community is nothing but a big plastic PVC fence.

"It's usually beautiful trees and greenery," Kennedy said. "When you walk it or ride your bicycle down it, you don't want to look at a solid piece of plastic for 1,100 feet. To me it's not as pretty as greenery leading up to the nice bridge and the beauty of the lake."

DDA Vice Chairman Atchinson replied, that the DDA looked at other options for a fence and asked her if she'd rather see a "chain-link fence that is cheaper or a wood fence that is going to fall apart?"

"We thought this was the best option as far as durability and maintenance," Atchinson said.

Mida then asked for a vote on how the members felt about the DDA replacing the fence. Fifteen raised their hands in favor and four were against.

Kennedy said she was the only one voting at the meeting who lived along the fence.

Ireland said barring complications with Wayne County, the project should be completed by the end of this year.

Following approval of the fence replacement, Belle Harbor residents elected Steve Roberts as president and Ken LaPointe as vice president. Karen Mida was re-elected as treasurer.
